Candidates face off at forum

By VICKI BROOKER

Liberal and Conservative candidates vying for the Westlock-St. Paul seat in the May 2 federal election faced off in Elk Point on Thursday night at a forum jointly hosted by Elk Point Chamber of Commerce and Elk Point Economic Development.

Green Party candidate Lisa Grant was unable to attend, but sent along a statement which moderator Don Schultz read at the beginning of the forum.

"The Green Party has a comprehensive, fully budgeted plan for the future of Canada that includes eliminating the deficit within three years," Grant said in her message, noting that the party has plans for creation of jobs through investment in renewable energy, expanding passenger rail service and retrofitting buildings for energy efficiency. Reforming, rethinking and revising trade agreements, promoting a health agriculture sector, ending corporate bail-outs, implementing a "revenue-neutral carbon pricing architecture" and encouraging workload sharing were among other goals, along with incentives for workplace childcare, funding support for municipalities needing to replace crumbling infrastructure and "holding a national discussion on the health of our democracy."

Conservative candidate Brian Storseth was first to the microphone, saying it had been an honour to serve the riding since 2006 and that he appreciated the support and guidance he has had during that time. He declared his pride in the record of the Conservative government in supporting agriculture, lowering taxes, fighting crime, lobbying for victims' rights and their handling of the economy. "Now we need to focus on jobs and growth," Storseth said. At the forum, he was "looking forward to a health debate. This time there is a very drastic difference between the visions of the parties. It is up to Canadians to decide."

Elk Point Elementary students take skipping to heart

The whole gym was jumping at Elk Point Elementary School on Thursday as 92 skippers took part in the annual Jump Rope for Heart, raising an incredible $8,992.75 for the Heart and Stroke Foundation. "The big thing is, it goes to a good cause, and the kids are revved about doing it," says organizer Rob Boyd.

B.P.O. Elks, Order of Royal Purple to celebrate 50 years

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

Two Elk Point lodges with a long history of community service will host a joint celebration of their 50th anniversaries this Saturday in the hall that has been the home of both since 1967.

A number of former members have been invited to join the current groups for the event, which will include an afternoon of entertainment by local musicians and dancers, speeches, presentations, a supper and social hour

In commemoration of this impressive milestone, we are happy to share the history of the Elk Point B.P.O. Elks Lodge No. 460 and the Elk Point Order of the Royal Purple No. 269, as recorded in Reflections: A History of Elk Point and District.

The history of B.P.O. Elks Lodge No. 460 was written by the later Ron Barwick, one of the lodge's charter members, who had also been a charter member of the Vermilion Elks Lodge in 1926, and who received a life membership in 1977, in recognition of 50 years of Elkdome.

"The inauguration of the Elk Point B. P. O. Elks Lodge No. 460 took place on Sunday, May 21, 1961. Brother Elks from Marwayne, Vermilion, Two Hills, Myrnam, Edmonton, Edgerton and Derwent were present. Sixty new members were installed by the Grand Organizer Bro. H. Graves.

Liberal candidate Rob Fox was born and raised in the Glendon-St. Paul area and worked in the oil and gas industry for 25 years. In his campaign, he has "knocked on 15,000 doors and 5,000 the second time around" while spreading his message to voters. Reducing the deficit establishment of a "prudence reserve," introduction of a Canadian Learning Passport that would provide financial incentives to high school students to assist them with post-secondary education, family care employment insurance and tax benefits and a stronger public pension system are among the Liberal plans, as are green renovation tax credits, a clean energy partnership and affordable housing incentives.

Schultz told the small crowd in attendance that the organizers' repeated efforts to invite NDP candidate Lyndsey Henderson went unanswered.

Questions from the floor were many and varied, with both candidates giving their opinion on everything from bilingual supreme court judges to the treatment of armed forces veterans, the long gun registry, the Canadian Wheat Board, the Northern Gateway pipeline, carbon credits, gasoline prices and corporate tax rates.

In his closing remarks, Fox spoke of "a prudent plan" that would help families in the future to "embrace a changing world" in a country that draws strength from its diversity. "Equality is a foundation where gaps exist, and we must work together to narrow them."

"There are clearly two paths going forward," Storseth concluded. "Government is about principle, it's about individual concerns, embracing commonsense ideas and reducing taxes. I firmly believe we have done a great job, and I look forward to being part of a strong, steady majority government."

Voters will have another opportunity to hear from Grant, Storseth and Fox this week at a forum Wednesday at 7 p.m. at St. Paul Rec Centre. Henderson had not confirmed her attendance by press time.

Charges in assaults

By Cst. JOHN SPAANS
Elk Point RCMP

On April 14 at 2 a.m., Elk Point RCMP received a third party complaint regarding an assault occurring at a residence in Frog Lake. Members attended the residence and located all involved parties, one of which was found hiding behind a door. It is alleged that a male and female had been drinking when one of the parties used a cell phone to post something on Facebook. The second party took exception to this and a fight broke out over the phone. Both parties, 22 and 24 years old, have been charged with assault.

A great storyteller

By Abby Baker

Grade 4, Elk Point Elementary School

Michael Kusagak is a children's story writer. He comes from Nunavut. On Monday, March 22, Michael visited the Elk Point Elementary School and shared some of his childhood experiences and the stories he's written.

Michael traveled to school in a different kind of transportation than us. Every year a school plane would come and pick up the children, so that they could get to school. Well, one year he really didn't want to go to school, so when the school plane arrived that year, Michael ran and hid behind a hill until the school plane left. Happily, Michael got to miss a whole year of school. Lucky!

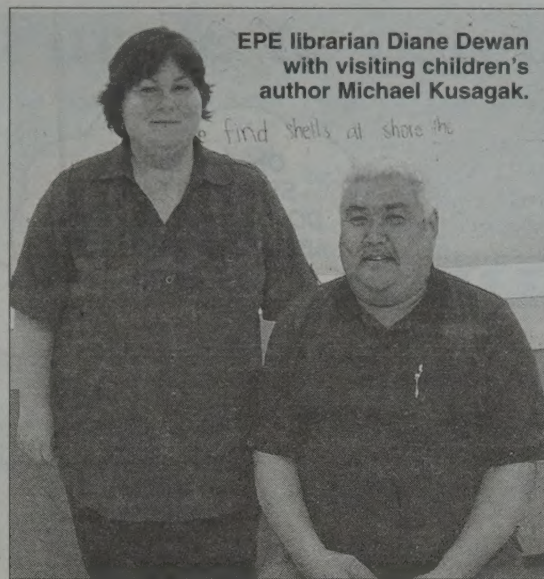

Before Michael went to school, he traveled by sled every day. He would get up early, eat breakfast, then back on the snow. Sometimes he would get cold when traveling by dog sled, so Michael would jump off his sled and run beside it until he was tired and warmed up. When Michael got older, he worked in helicopters and planes. When people were looking for oil, they would make holes and his plane would come at about 10 feet off the ground and Michael would drop dynamite into the hole and KABOOM!

Michael has written nine books and has co-authored "A Promise is a Promise" with Robert Munsch. Instead of making up stories, he writes his books about his childhood. Although Michael has written books in English, he also writes books in different languages. Proudly, he has written seven picture books and was awarded the Vicky Metcalf Award. In 1998, Michael's very first book was published. He has been writing for 22 years. WOW!

Michael Kusagak has visited so many schools that he can't count all of them. In his writing career, Michael has written about his life in Nunavut. He now lives in Vancouver. Living in Nunavut was a much harder lifestyle than Vancouver.

"Baseball Bats for Christmas is just one of Michael Kusagak's amazing books. He's also authored "Little Sled Dog," "The Curse of the Storm," "The Northern Lights," "Who Wants Rocks," "Arctic Stories," "My Arctic 1,2,3" and "Hide and Sneak."

Some people in Michael's life are really important to him. One of his favourite storytellers was his uncle, inspiring him with great ideas as now made him a great author. Every night Michael got to listen to magnificent stories that his grandmother told him. A favourite person in Michael's life is Robert Munsch. He is a true friend to Michael.

EPE librarian Diane Dewan with visiting children's author Michael Kusagak.

Corrections

In the April 19 Elk Point Review story, 'County Passes 2011 budget', it was incorrectly stated that the requisition for the MD Foundation is $549,364. The correct amount is $391,319.

Also in last week's Review, a headline stated that a County of St. Paul councillor is opposed to Bylaw 1567. The councillor mentioned in the story, Maxine Fodness, is not opposed to the bylaw.

The Review apologizes for these errors and regrets any inconvenience they may have caused.

Assists valuable

Did you ever consider the value of an assist?

Wayne Gretzky scored 1,016 goals, but more than doubled that number in the assists he provided - 2,222 of them in his career, for a record that still stands today.

This is Administrative Professionals' week, and time to pay tribute to those who contribute even more assists than Gretzky. Their goals are to keep things running smoothly in every office across the country, and the amount of assistance they provide each and every working day is incredible. Many of us would be totally lost without these women and men, who do everything from answering the phones to knowing exactly where to put their hand on the information we need at a moment's notice. They even have the innate ability to track us down when we're out of the office, and the need to contact us arises.

They really all deserve an 'MVAP' (Much Valued Administrative Professional) award, but for now, we'll just wish them a great Administrative Professionals' Week.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Recreation, resuming work, explosive talent

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES IN THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF APRIL 26 IN...

1986

Recreation dominated town council's agenda, with council asking for revision of the rec board's budget after the county declined financial assistance, accepting with regret the resignation of rec director Linda Simpson, and agreeing to apply for rec land development funding under the new Municipal Recreation and Tourism Areas grant. MLA John Drobot announced the upgrading of Highway 41 through Elk Point and to the junction of Highway 28 had been placed on the provincial government's tenders list.

1991

Five years and one week after plans for a nursing home were unveiled, Hospital Board chair John Mohyluk received word from Health Minister Nancy Betkowski and Public Works Minister Ken Kowalski that the project was, "among a limited number of the 35 previously deferred projects which will be funded to resume work in 1991-92," with the estimated cost now up to $3.2 million from the original $2.6 million estimate. The public came to the Elk Point Community and Cultural Centre Building Society open house, they saw, they questioned, and before they left, they pledged a total of $126,140 toward the construction of the $1.4 million community facility.

1996

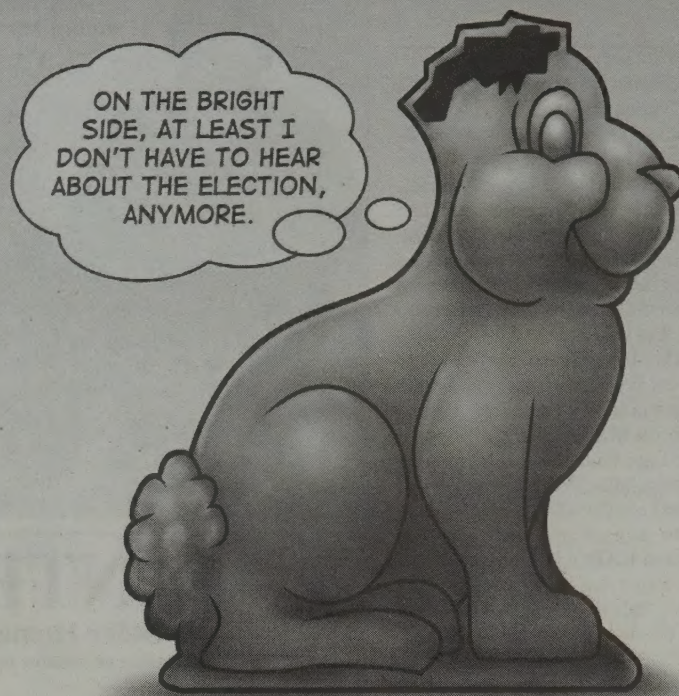

A contingent of 22 high school students and two teachers from Mont Rolland, Quebec was welcomed with a multicultural jamboree featuring local singers, Ukrainian, Korean, Native and French Canadian dancers and cowboy poetry. Elk Point Elks and Royal Purple lodges hosted their respective district meetings, with good attendance at both.

2001

Elk Point Pioneer Circle seniors hosted the premiere event of the International Year of the Volunteer celebrations with a Volunteer Week tea where Sid Holthe was presented with a lifetime membership in the Alberta Senior Citizens' Sports and Recreation Association. Seven-year-old B. J. Bailey charmed the Youth Talent Explosion judges with his rendition of "Louisiana Saturday Night" to win the Junior Showcase award.

2006

"You are at the heart of what's happening, and you need to do more with what you've got," facilitator Walter DaSilva told 44 community-minded individuals as he announced the results of the weekend's economic development training workshop and helped determine the top priorities. Elk Point's 24/7 volunteers were praised by MLA Ray Danyluk at the Firefighters' Ball for "going beyond the call of duty."

GUEST COLUMN

A personal choice

The great love story of dashing Prince William and commoner Kate Middleton will turn into marriage on Friday, April 29. Some of us will be able to catch the 4 a.m. wedding on television as they tie the gold-brocaded knot. (Coverage starts at 3 a.m.) What will the Prince wear and what will the new princess' wedding dress look like? Will Prince William wear the traditional uniform? Will the wedding dress look similar to what Prince William's mother wore when she married Prince Charles? The speculations are out there. But we know the couple is trying to keep it a secret until their day. After all, it is like opening presents. If we don't know what is inside the present until we open it, it really makes the gift more special. And we know that a royal marriage of a future king is really special.

When you think and speculate about all that will take place this Friday at the royal wedding you are really casting your vote. After all, a vote is really a thought voiced and registered. Speaking of voicing your thought in the form of a registered vote, all of us will have this opportunity on Monday, May 2nd. This is an important day. It is our Canadian Federal election day. Our vote does count. We have freedom to vote. That, itself, is a privilege. When you think about it, some countries that are ruled by a dictatorship don't have this freedom. So really, if you don't vote, one can say you are taking this freedom for granted by choosing to vote or not to vote. And by choosing to not vote you are allowing the votes of others to determine the registered voters majority choice that if you had registered your vote the results may or may not have been different. It is really something to think about. In other words, each vote becomes important. So register your vote, it is your freedom to do so.

The other side of this picture is a people picture. That is, what are the two people in Friday's royal wedding really like? Likewise, we can ask ourselves, what are the candidates for the M.P. office that we will vote them in for, really like? In both these examples we have heard and read what they may or may not have said. Our interpretation becomes important because this affects our opinion. From our opinion, we have formed our feelings about the royal wedding people and about the federal election candidates.

This is the human or people side that becomes the bottom line. How we vote is affected by our determined bottom line. In other words, whether or not we will watch the royal wedding on television this coming Friday and whether or not we will put an "X" inside the box on the voting registration piece of paper this coming Monday, it is all a choice.

Speaking of choices and noting that April is poetry month, let me summarize my thoughts by the following poem.

*It's all a personal choice the marriage of two
When freedom to do so is theirs to take*

*It's all a personal choice when each candidate chooses to run
And states what he will do for us who chose to vote*

*It's all a personal choice of ours
To accept or not accept what we have read or heard*

*It's all a personal choice of ours to vote for which one
We have chosen to fill the position desired as M.P.*

It's all a personal choice because those who came before Fought to give us our freedom to choose what is important.

*It's all a personal choice when wedding bells have stopped ringing
And election votes have been counted to support those to take it from here.*

A suitable hall in which to hold meetings was a problem; however, for the most part, the Legion Hall was made available, which was deeply appreciated by the Lodge. This hall was really too small and it made the members realize the necessity of a suitable building, not only for their own use as a meeting place, but as a community hall where all kinds of meetings, social gatherings, banquets, weddings, etc. could be held.

At the third meeting of the lodge, a motion was passed to start a building fund, and $50 was deposited in the Lodge Building Fund. From there on, many and varied projects were promoted by the lodge members, and by the summer of 1966, the fund has built up to $3,500, and a motion was passed to plunge ahead with a building. Loans were obtained and the first sod was turned by Mayor Habiak. The first dance was held in the far-from-completed hall on Ah-ti-yek Day, May 31, 1967, and was the Lodge’s contribution to the Centennial Day Celebration.

A grand opening dance, along with a social hour and banquet, on Oct. 31, 1967. In 1972, a maple floor was installed and the interior painted. The basement was completed in 1974.

On May 24, 1975, an event that will go down in history was held. The burning of the mortgage was celebrated in a very pleasant and colourful evening. The mortgage burning was performed following the 11 o’clock service and was a very impressive ceremony. After the papers were burned in a special urn, the Exalted Ruler said, “The ashes in this urn represent many hours of labour and much dedication by members of the Lodge in order to finalize this effort. We dedicate this hall to the service of the community.”

The history of O.O.R.P. No. 269 was written by the late Virginia Pankiw.

The first slate of officers installed were: Honoured Royal Lady – Lady Phyllis Boos, Associate Royal Lady – Lady Mary Bochon, Loyal Lady – Lady Dorothea Siler, Lecturing Lady – Lady Leona Thygason, Secretary – Lady Lyn Young, Treasurer – Lady Kay Rylance, First Year Trustee – Lady Dorothea Ewoniak, Second Year Trustee – Lady Pearl Vaughan, Third Year Trustee – Lady Niki Riemer, Historian – Lady Donna Aarbo, Chaplain – Lady Florence Lorenson, Conductress – Lady Rosalin Sumislawsky, Inner Guard – Lady Lynne Rylance, Outer Guard – Lady Alice Young,

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANTS

Administrative

THE UNSUNG HEROES!

Administrative Assistants Week will take place from April 24 to 30 this year. Over the years, the role of secretaries has broadened to include tasks which they execute independently and on their own initiative. Information technology now allows administrative assistants to play an indispensable role in any organization, whether it's private, commercial, industrial or cultural.

Administrative Assistants Week is a great opportunity to highlight the work of administrative support staff and their contribution to the success of our businesses and organizations. Administrative assistants are our unsung heroes, knowing how to combine diverse skills and many different assets. All segments of our economy are dependent on their work and their professionalism. Whether they are management secretaries, executive secretaries, technical secretaries or receptionist-secretaries, they accomplish all the tasks which constitute the basis of any business.

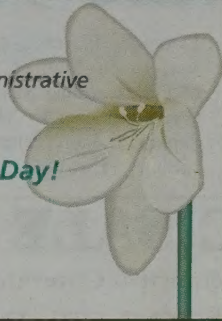

First created in 1952 as part of a publicity campaign in the United States, Administrative Assistants Week is still as relevant as ever. After all these years, this event is not only an opportunity to thank these precious workers, but it also allows us to highlight a profession as essential as it is in demand.

Violet McFadyen celebrates 95th birthday

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Family and friends surrounded Violet McFadyen with their love on Friday as she marked her 95th birthday with a tea at the Elk Point Seniors Recreation Centre.

"We feel so fortunate to celebrate this very special day with our mother," said daughter Myrna Fox, on behalf of brother Malcolm, his wife and family, sister-in-law Chris, wife of the late Barrie McFadyen, and family and Fox's husband Bill.

The birthday celebrant was born April 25, 1916 in Pollockville, Alberta, the second of four children, and when she was 11, her family, like many in that area, escaped the drought by moving north. They settled at Isley, and it was there that she met and married Gordon McFadyen in 1939. The couple were blessed with three children.

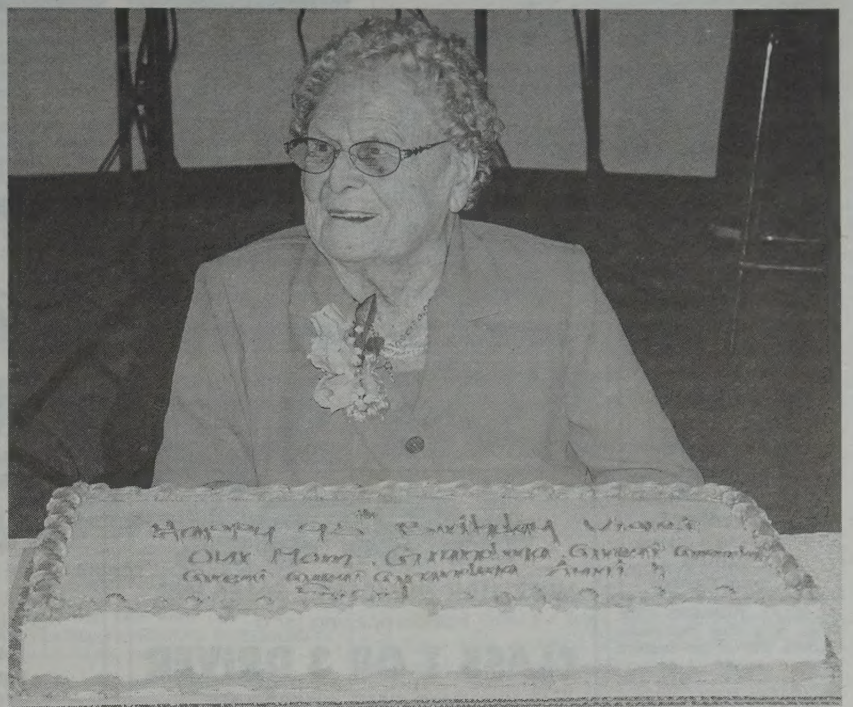

In 1954, after son Barrie was stricken with polio, the McFadyens moved to the Armistice area to be near Dr. F. G. Miller, who was treating the serious illness.

In 1969, Violet went to work at Elk Point Hospital, beginning what she felt were among the most rewarding years of her life, continuing to work there until her mandatory retirement, at age 65. Her retirement was busy with community activities, including the Red Cross and as a charter member of the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary. This "lady of many talents" also enjoyed crocheting, tatting, cooking and quilting, as well as traveling. Gardening, with "more and more flowers every year, especially roses and sweet peas," music, dancing and piano playing are also among her most enjoyed activities.

Entertainment was provided by "a neighbour boy from Armistice," Arnie Price, fellow musician Archie Collins and young singer Rachael Walton, who sang several old favourites.

On April 16 at 8 p.m., RCMP were called to a fight at a residence in Fishing Lake. It is alleged that there was a visitor at the residence who was asked to leave. The male reused to leave as requested and punched and kicked one of the residents of the house. Members located the 32-year-old suspect, who has been charged with assault.

At 5:30 p.m. on April 19, RCMP were called to an assault at the Frog Lake Food and Fuel. It was alleged that an intoxicated female punched the complainant in the arm a number of times before walking away. The motive of the assault was undetermined. The 42-year-old female was located and charged with assault.

Impaired driving

At 9 a.m. on April 14, a tip was received about a possible impaired driver on Highway 897 near the Frog Lake Food and Fuel. Members located the suspect vehicle and determined that the 65-year-old driver was under the influence of alcohol. Subsequent breath tests indicated a blood alcohol level three times the legal limit. The male has been charged with impaired driving and driving with a blood alcohol level over 80 mg per cent.

At 2 a.m. on April 17, a vehicle was stopped in Frog Lake by RCMP for a vehicle equipment violation. When speaking with the driver, members determined that he had been drinking alcohol during the night. After failing a roadside screening test, the male provided breath samples that indicated a blood alcohol level over the legal limit. The 55-year-old Frog Lake male has been charged with impaired driving related offenses.

At 10 p.m. on April 18, RCMP observed a vehicle driving erratically on Township Road 560. The vehicle was pulled over at which point it was determined that all of the occupants had been drinking alcohol. The driver of the vehicle showed signs of impairment and was subjected to a roadside test. When the male failed this test he was brought to the RCMP Detachment where his blood alcohol level was found to be twice the legal limit. The 41-year-old Frog Lake male has been charged with an impaired driving related offence.
